

Universities

Here is a list of the universities and the doses of COVID-19 Pfizer vax shipped to them as of July 25th 2022. These figures do not include Moderna or any other vaccines.

When considering which university to attend, you might ask –

1. Which universities are least pushy with the vaccine ?
2. Which universities are most respectful of your right to consent without coercion ?
3. Which universities may have used restrictions on access to education in order to bully students into taking the COVID-19 Vax ?
4. Which universities provided full information about deaths, disabilities and illnesses associated with the vaccine ?
5. Which universities cared more about receiving government funding than about the health and lives of their students ?

Now, it is your turn to vote with your feet by choosing a university that respects free choice and informed consent.

Distance Learning as an Option

You might also consider distance learning as an option.

If there is any return of restrictions on movement based on vaccine status under any new declared “pandemic emergency” then distance learning (otherwise known as home schooling) is a more reliable alternative.

Such learning can be internet based, or even internet-free if you use a syllabus and a book list.

Its possible to do many degrees, A levels, and O levels in this way, and simply attend an external examination at the end.

When so many schools, colleges and universities were willing to sell out their children’s lives for funding
